PRESS RELEASE

Saturday, August 20th – Professionals from the Boston based law firm, Jones Day, gathered at OLPH Mission Grammar School in Roxbury to participate in the Inner City Scholarship Fund Day to Make a Difference. Volunteers worked with teachers and students to get the classrooms ready for the school year. Tasks included landscaping, building a pre- school play loft, distributing classroom materials and moving boxes. The volunteers involved were: Jim Tuxbury, Joe Sconyers, Shana Sconyers, Chris Morrison, Keith Drake, Traci Lovitt, Alice Cooper, Richie Cooper, Anita Mohandas, Nathine Washington, Ellis Washington and William Sebastian Tzoc-McDougal.

Mission Grammar Principal, Maura Bradley said, “We are so thankful to the volunteers from Jones Day for their commitment to making our school a safe and productive space for the start of the new school year”. If you or your company has an interest in volunteering at one of the ICSF schools, please contact the Catholic Schools Foundation at (617)778-5981 or info@csfboston.org.
